Dove Charity Home Birth Payment Schedule

(revised 05/19)

I charge $3,000 dollars, global fee, for my services. This global fee covers registration, comprehensive prenatal care, blood testing (lab fees not included), prenatal instruction, two limited ultrasounds by this care giver and referrals for unusual results, labor, birth, postnatal care to six weeks postpartum, cell phone call/text availability during office hours, educational lending library, handouts, birth pool lending, and birth equipment and the Assistant Midwife fee of $400 (paid directly to her). This does not cover any care by your doctor or hospital, in rare occurrence (6%), of transfer or referral, lab processing fees, or transportation fees (see below). In the case that you need to change to a different care giver during your pregnancy, due to health reasons before 36 weeks, we can negotiate an arrangement for a partial itemized refund from the total of $3,000. If we transport during labor, I am still considered your primary care giver and will still expect to be paid the full amount. I will still be with you whenever possible, giving emotional, physical and educational support, during the birth, and postpartum. There are no other refunds. You are responsible to pay the full amount by 36 weeks of pregnancy, unless other arrangements have been made. I will really try to work with you if you really want a home birth. If you register late in your pregnancy your payments will be higher to finish before the 36th week. If for some reason you are unable to pay one of your payments on time, we will try to work with you as best as we can.

Assistant Midwife and Apprentice: I have found it valuable to have an assistant midwife, in some cases it is imperative for example VBAC, baby mal-positioned, first time moms, moderate risk. I support future midwives by training a student. Please help by allowing a student during your prenatal and birth care. Your space and privacy will always be respected.
